

Medieval Material Culture Blog

What's new in what's old.

London exhibition on the history of science and technology in the Muslim world

Posted in February 1st, 2010
by Karen in Exhibits and Museums

1001 Inventions: Discover the Muslim Heritage in Our World, at the Science Museum in London through April 25, features "many interactive exhibits, displays and dramatisations, the exhibition explores the shared scientific heritage of diverse cultures and looks at how many modern inventions can trace their roots back to Muslim civilisation."