

QUOTE from:

1001 Inventions and Muslim Heritage

View quote in context »

SHARE

EMAIL

“ Forgotten history? Not really. Ask just about anyone on the streets of Cairo or Damascus today and they'll readily tell you about Islam's glory days - not just its conquests but its cultural, scientific and technological innovations.

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO

All quotes from:

1001 Inventions and Muslim Heritage

“ The elephant clock is wonderful because it is like a United Nations clock. It has all the elements of different civilizations and I like it as a scientist because it shows that science doesn't have to be boring and sterile and plain, but it can be decorative and it can also pay homage to the cultures th...

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO

“ Well of course, coffee was invented in the very early years of Islam - a guy called Khaled in Ethiopia, a young man looking after his sheep

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO

“ The numbers that we have today - 1,2,3,4 - they're called Arabic numerals, but actually the Arabs at the time called them Indian numerals

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO

“ During that time, which is about 1,000 years, there were enormous contributions in science and technology, that came to us from other civilizations over another very important civilization and that is the Muslim civilization

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO

“ One of them is the invention of the university. This was done in the year 850 by a young lady called Fatima al-Firhi in the city of Fez in Morocco. The first university as we know it in the world, giving degrees and so on

SOURCE: VOICE OF AMERICA
15 HOURS AGO