

In London: Golden Age Of Islam Presents World With 1001 Inventions

APRIL 18, 2010

by islam101

tags: civilization, culture, london, muslims, science

The 1001 Inventions Exhibition launched on January 21, 2010 is a global educational initiative that promotes awareness of the scientific and cultural achievements of Muslim civilization, during the thousand year period from the 7th century forward, and how those inventions helped build the foundations of our modern world. In association with the Jameel Foundation, the exhibit will remain in London until June 30, 2010.

<http://www.1001inventions.com/>