

podcasts

Podcast Home Podcast Help

Quick Find: Type podcast name (eg. Moyles)

Material World

Weekly science conversation, on everything from archaeology to zoology, from abacus to the antipodean rodent zyzomys, by way of meteorites. Presented by Quentin Cooper, and airing every Thursday, 4:30 pm.

Updated: Weekly

Average duration: 26 minutes

Subscribe for free

- iTunes
- My Yahoo!
- Zune
- Google Reader
- ZENCast
- RSS feed

Subscribe to this podcast and automatically receive the latest episodes.

More help with subscribing

Recent episodes (1)

Muslim World's 1001 Inventions, Predicting Catastrophes? Swarm Robots, Magnetic Brain 21 Jan 2010

Thu, 21 Jan 10

Predicting earthquakes, storms and economic collapse – are there rules to discover? 1001 Inventions from the Muslim world exhibition at the Science Museum, London; swarms of robots to help fight fires; and new visions of the brain's magnetic activity may help diagnose and treat disease.

Duration: 29 mins

Download 14MB \(right click & "save target as"\)

Play recent episodes

Material: Muslim World's 1001 Inventions, Predicting Catastrophes? Swarm Robots, Magnetic Brain 21 Jan 2010

00.00 / 28.32

Related links

- Material World homepage
- BBC Radio 4